The BID and ASK prices appearing on the Company's trading platform(s), for a given financial instrument, are based on the price of the relevant underlying asset, obtained by the Company from its Execution Venue(s). It is noted that for majority of financial instruments, the Company may choose to increase the spread i.e. the difference between the BID and ASK prices quoted of a given financial instrument, in other words to "mark-up" the spread.

4.2. For some financial instruments, the Company may choose not to increase the spread but instead apply a separate commission charge.

4.3. For opening a position in some types of financial instruments, the Client may be required to pay financing fees, the amount of which shall be disclosed on the Company's website(s) and/or the trading platform(s). In the case of financing fees, the value of opened positions, for specific types of financial instruments, is increased or decreased by a daily financing fee "swap rate" throughout the life of the position remaining open.

7.4 The Company does not have an obligation to specifically notify the Client about margin calls occurred within the trading account(s), considering that the notification shall be sent to the Client through trading platform(s) automatically. The Client shall be warned by the trading platform(s) when the trading account(s) have reached a specific percentage of the margin requirement. The Client should take any or all of the below action to handle the margin call:

- Limit the exposure within the trading account(s) ie close open positions; or
- Hedge open positions, partially or fully (open counter positions to the existing once); or
- Deposit additional funds into the trading account(s).
